A message from our founder and director Owen de Visser

The last 12 months have been a period of change, progression and growth for Birmingham Open Studios (BOS). At the start of the year, we registered as a Community Interest Company (CIC), and we now have a small yet dedicated team of directors helping run and develop BOS.

This change will open up new opportunities for funding, allowing us to deliver more tools and assistance for Birmingham artists throughout the year. We welcome co-directors Mitch Schofield and Melissa Reynolds-Lawrence to the board.

In March we were delighted to be nominated for 'Best Creative Exhibition Of The Year', and to win 'Social Media Campaign Of The Year' at the We Are Creative Awards.

As we continue to grow and respond to artist and visitor feedback, we also continue to grow our catchment area and artist membership. The 2025 event is set to be our biggest yet with 170 artists and groups across 86 venues!

We would like to thank the following institutions and companies who have generously sponsored this year's event:

Birmingham Open Studios would not be possible without the tireless efforts of our volunteer organisers, our supporters, sponsors and those who participate. As we grow we are looking to attract further funding, sponsors and donors, so please reach out to us at info@birminghamopenstudios.co.uk if you are able to support us in any way.

Joe Lycett, Birmingham Open Studios' Ambassador

A few words from our ambassador, Joe Lycett; popular comedian, TV presenter and painter

"I've been a proud ambassador of Birmingham Open Studios for years now and think it's a brilliant and unique way of seeing the incredible art our city has to offer. It's the best opportunity to nosey round people's studios, homes, print presses, sheds and more to see what incredible (and sometimes quite weird) things they've made.

By supporting the art trail you're supporting local artists, so join me in grabbing a guidebook (or downloading their superb new app!) and treat yourself to a gander at Birmingham's extraordinary talent."

BOS are constantly seeking funding and partnerships for further growth for 2026 and beyond. Please contact us at info@birminghamopenstudios.co.uk if you are interested in finding out more.

Birmingham Open Studios opens doors to how Birmingham can experience art in the city. BOS' mission is to make art more accessible to Birmingham's art lovers and buyers, and to make art lovers and buyers more accessible to artists.

We do this by supporting artists to open up their studios, homes and spaces to visitors, so they can sell their work directly, commission free.

Since our first small event in 2017, BOS has grown to become Birmingham's largest art trail. 2025 is our biggest to date with 170 artists and groups exhibiting across the city.

This year we became a registered Community Interest Company so we are better placed to reach out to funders and sponsors to help us achieve our vision of expanding our support to artists and growing the annual event
